

Domvs London announces joint venture and US expansion

Exclusive: Ultra-prime developer Domvs London has formed a joint venture partnership with a fund managed by a real estate investment unit within J.P. Morgan.

In a major step, the developer has teamed up with New York-based investment boutique Junius Real Estate Partners to acquire several sites in a 'coveted internationally renowned location'.

Both firms are calling it an 'exciting' and 'significant' opportunity, with Domvs London's CEO Jon O'Brien praising Junius' 'deep understanding of this market and substantial financial resources'.

Managing Partner and CIO of Junius, John Fraser, has described the JV as 'a synergistic collaboration that is ideally suited to deliver exceptional product to this segment of the market'.

Further details on the project are due to be announced in early 2015...

Meanwhile, Domvs London has also been busy expanding the brand into North America and setting up a new operation in Los Angeles.

The Stateside team has now been assembled and includes LA-based British designer Gavin Brodin in the role of Partner and Creative Director.

Designer-to-the-stars Brodin brings two decades of high-end resi and commercial experience to the table, including the Spelling Manor in Los Angeles and the complete redevelopment of a Kensington Palace Gardens mansion (both of which were covered in depth by the glossies).

Barry Watts, who's held CEO positions across the film, television and music industries, has joined as Partner to oversee branding, marketing and sales activities, whilst Investor Relations are being led by Paul Reeve, former Managing Director, Royal Bank of Canada, Capital Markets.

The wider collaborative team also includes a number of design, landscaping and architectural specialists.

Jon O'Brien, Founder & CEO of Domvs London: “This carefully considered expansion takes the Domvs London brand to an international marketplace. With exceptional partners renowned for their expertise, we are extremely well-positioned to continue our success.

“The joint venture with Junius is a significant and exciting opportunity for Domvs London. Their deep understanding of this market and substantial financial resources greatly assist in pursuing our objective of delivering the finest homes in the world to the most discerning buyers.”

John Fraser, Managing Partner & CIO of Junius Real Estate Partners: “We are delighted to be embarking on an enterprise with Domvs London. This particular affiliation marks an exciting addition to our portfolio and investment approach.”
